

FALL 2020

This has been a year we will never forget. As resourceful sailors we have weathered the challenges in good health, fine spirits with determination to survive the storm of events this fall and winter. Bonnell Cove Foundation has been challenged, also. On the bright side, our generous donors continue to support our efforts with donations. I would especially like to thank the Mallorca cruise participants who donated their cruise refunds to BCF, a group of generous CCA members (SAF), involved with Call of the Sea, who directed a portion of their recent fundraising event to BCF, and the PNW Station who gave a donation in memory of two station members, Doug Fryer and Glenn Wakefield.

This fall we awarded $26,200 in grants to all four applicants. The effect of Covid-19 on many non-profit programs might have caused the low number of requests.

You can support these efforts by sending a donation to BCF at the address below or by using our website; www.bonnellcove.org. Thank you all for caring about our mission of supporting safety at sea and a better marine environment.

Thank you,
Joyce Lhamon, President

FOUR DIVERSE GRANTS AWARDED

SailMaine

Granted $3,200

This community sailing organization in Portland, received a grant to purchase a solar power energy solution so that they could have a reliable power source for their safety and radio equipment.

Did you respond to our recent survey? It will help us better determine how to support your issues of concern in the marine environment and safety at sea. Here is a link to the survey. <https://cruisingclub.org/news/bonnell-cove-survey>

Coral Reef Alliance

Granted $8,000

Coral Reef Alliance, an organization aimed at protecting coral reefs around the world, received a grant to help fund a citizen science data collection project to monitor water quality data and help preserve and protect the coral reefs in Hawai'i, which are vitally important to the ecosystem and local families.

Hudson River Community Sailing

Granted $10,000

This New York City based academic program providing youth oriented sailing and maritime education, received a $10,000 grant to support a hands-on learning program for 10 students to develop, build and study artificial aquatic marine life habitats in New York Harbor.

Storm Trysail Foundation

Granted $5,000

This charitable organization aimed at promoting safe blue water racing, received a grant to support the launch of their inaugural Sailing Leadership Symposium which will bring together safety experts from a variety of fields ranging from emergency response, merchant marine, aviation and mountaineering, to deliver safety content relevant to our sailing community.
